2. BRAND MARK & LOGO VARIANTS

The Rhodes brand mark and logotypes are responsive, which means there are multiple (adaptable) versions to fit most area requirements for web, displays, social media, and print.

THE STORY OF THE RHODES MARK & POTENTIAL APPLICATIONS

The Rhodes mark takes its inspiration from land surveys. We started with a survey from the Rhodes master planned community, Tres Lagos, then played with the lot lines and negative space to create the distinctive R mark. The mark can be used as a watermark, or as a stand alone (without secondary logotype application) for social media icons.

PRIMARY LOGOTYPE

This is the primary expression of the Rhodes brand. It consists of custom letterforms locked together in a single unit. Do not alter the primary logotype in any way. The primary logotype should always be applied as a complete, single unit and appear only in the approved color variations specified in this document. The primary logotype should be used in defined brand colors whenever possible.

The primary logo has two preferred color options: green/blue and all ivory. The logo may appear over solid colored backgrounds. When used over photography, always use the ivory or white logotype options and ensure sufficient contrast exists between the photo and mark.

PRIMARY LOGOTYPE RULES

BLACK & WHITE

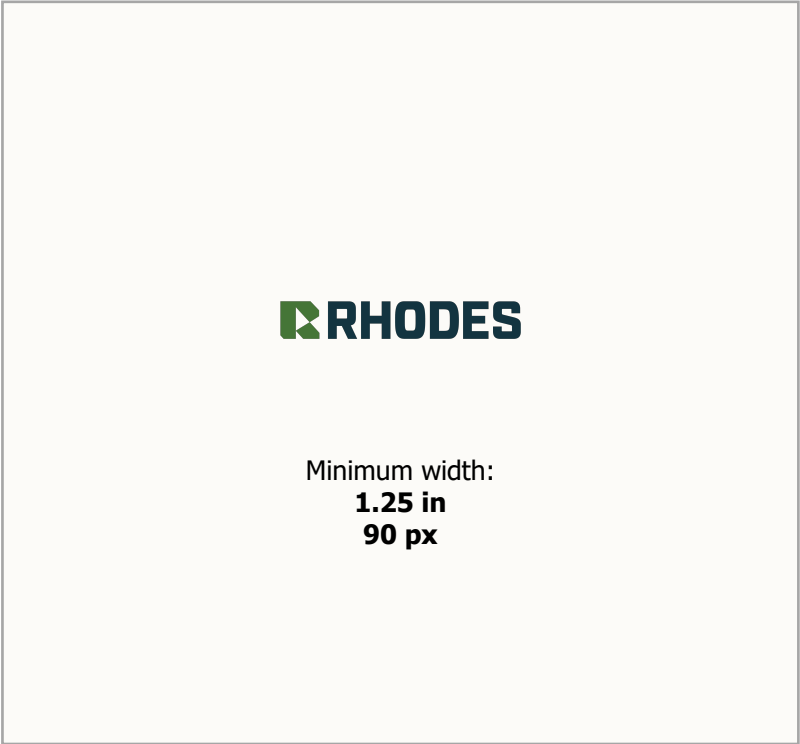

Black and white variations of the primary logotype are provided for use in applications where color reproduction is limited.

CLEAR SPACE

Each Rhodes logotype should keep a MINIMUM clear space on all sides equal to the height of the “R” in the logo. The clear space acts as a buffer between other visual elements and establishes a minimum distance to the edge of the page. Proper clear space protects the integrity of the mark and prevents compromising the Rhodes identity.

MINIMUM SIZE

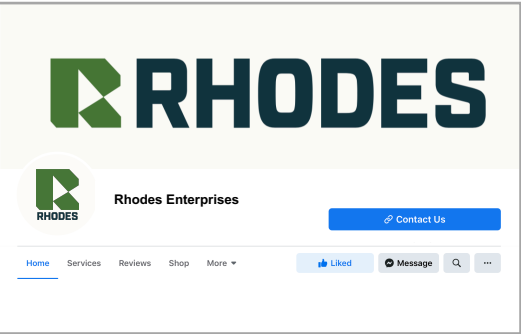

Each Rhodes mark has specific minimum size requirements to maintain integrity and legibility. Rhodes marks should never be used smaller than their designated minimum sizes. For consistency, width is used as the unit of measure.

SECONDARY LOGOTYPE

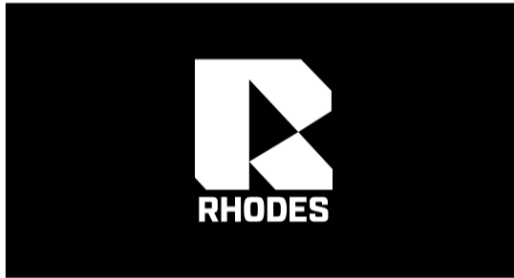

The secondary logotype is to be used when space is not sufficient enough to use the primary logotype or for social media applications and certain digital or print collateral. When using the secondary logotype always ensure the mark is centered within the given space. The secondary logotype should be used in defined brand colors whenever possible.

The secondary logo has two preferred color options: green/blue and all ivory. The logo may appear over solid colored backgrounds. When used over photography, always use the ivory or white logotype options and ensure sufficient contrast exists between the photo and mark.
